Population explosion

†429. SHRI ABU ASIM AZMI: Will the Minister of URBAN DEVELOPMENT be pleased to state:

(a) whether half of the entire population of the world would turn urban within the forthcoming three years;

(b) if so, the ratio of Indian population therein;

(c) what would be the enhanced percentage of India'a urban population in the population of the world by 2010;

(d) the measures being taken by Government to check this increasing pressure of urban population; and

(e) the measures being taken to provide housing, water, health, sanitation and other necessities in urban areas for the above said population?

THE MINISTER OF URBAN DEVELOPMENT (SHRI GHULAM NABI AZAD): (a) Yes, Sir. The United Nations estimates indicate that in 2001, about 48% (2.93 billion) of the world population lived in urban areas. (Source: Planning Commission, Mid-Term Appraisal of Tenth Plan Report, Draft Chapter VIII). This is likely to increase to 50% or more in the forthcoming three years.

(b) As per 2001 census (Primary Census Abstract, Census of India, 2001), 286.11 million population constituted unban component in the country, which is about 9.65% of the total urban population of the world, estimated by United Nations.

(c) By 2010-11, the estimated urban population in India would be around 34%-35% of India's total population, which would be about 5.87% of the total world population.

(d) The Centrally sponsored IDSMT scheme is in operation to develop requisite level of infrastructure in small and medium towns so as to arrest migration from these to large urban centres, while the Mega City Scheme seeks to augment/strengthen infrastructure in Mega Cities to cater to increase in population.

(e) Providing housing, water, health, sanitation and other necessities is the primary responsibility of the State Governments/Union Territories. However, this Ministry has been sensitizing the State Governments/Union Territories on the need to undertake urban sector reforms for providing the basic necessities to the urban population.
